Rockport Letter.
Rockport, Ky., Nov. 21, '97.
Mrs. Dan Tracy and Miss Jennie Berryman, Hartford, were in town Monday.
William, to Mrs. Perry Boston, on the 18th inst., a child, which was buried the following evening.
Saturday was a queer day, very far as the weather goes. The whole earth seemed to be on fire, and a stilling smoke filled the air and gave it a lurid glow that made one feel like praying to avert some terrible calamity.
Mr. John Smith and daughter, Miss Jennie, arrived last week from Fidelity, where they have been visiting for several months. It is reported on good authority that Miss Jennie married while in Philadelphia, but to whom I have not learned, and as her husband did not accompany her home there is some doubt about the matter.
Henry Williams and Adelle Austin, who are on an alteration of their night, which soon brought them to town, in which the former was stabbed twice in the back. The wounds, ugly and severe, but not dangerous, were dressed by Dr. Linton. Reports differ as to who is to blame. Austin left at once.
Mr. Castello lectured here last Wednesday afternoon in the interest of the order of L. L. The speech is spoken of as able, humorous and very interesting. I was promised full particulars of the speech but the party reported to comply, hence no report can be given.
As was hourly expected, Mrs. Lura Williams died after months of intense but piteous suffering. She died at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning the 17th inst., and was buried in a cemetery vault on Friday evening at the cemetery. She leaves a faithful husband with whom we all join in earnest sympathy.
The newspaper reports of the horrible blood-bath at a long trail across Garrison's creek, a few miles this side of Paducah, which occurred on the morning of the 18th inst., when an engine and 22 freight cars went crashing through a burning trestle 90 feet high, killing the engineer and front brakeman and mangled every man on the train, have been meager and incorrect. The main facts seem to be the suppression of the fire, which was extinguished by the use of water, which were literally cremated under the wreck, has been found except a few scraps of iron and copper, and a few pieces of wood and a gold watch, all supposed to belong to the engineer, Roman. The train brakeman, who leaped from the train as it broke through the trestle, escaped with one leg broken, and with remarkable fortitude crawled down the road with a signal to flag the next bound passenger train then about due. Mr. Campbell, the conductor, who also had his leg broken, dragged himself in this condition for fifty yards to the train to flag a west-bound freight train. Thus the two men saved two other lives by their heroic deed. The engine and 22 freight cars, which were laden with coal, were all destroyed. The train was a fine specimen of Roman history. No doubt like this ought to be rewarded with a life pension. Mr. Stowers and family and Uncle Arthur Wallace left Saturday for Texas, the former for Dallas and the latter for Fort Worth where his son Dr. Arthur Wallace lives. Mr. Wallace has gone only on a visit and will return in the spring. Dr. Stowers will remain and engage in the practice of his profession. No town ever lost a better citizen, a noble gentleman or a better dentist, or a more interesting family than his wife and children. We would say to the people of Dallas that you may find further news of that longed-for relative, worthy of all confidence in business transactions as well as otherwise. May health, contentment and success follow him and his to Dallas.

Money saved by buying all kinds of Cemetery work of the Old Bellows firm of MICHAEL BROS., proprietors of OWENSBORO MARKING GLASS, FINE AND STONE WORKS. The reason we can sell cheaper, and do our work better than others, is that we employ no agents, and attend to the business ourselves, and therefore parties buying of us can save the big commission usually paid them. Write for our prices, and we will be glad to send them to you. Address all letters to MICHAEL BROS., Owensboro, Ky.

BEAVER DAM JETTING.

Miss Naunie Tanner, of Rochester, is visiting Mrs. Hunt.

Great irregularity in the arrival and departure of trains has been occasioned by the week near Paducah.

Recent forest fires in this vicinity have occasioned a great deal of alarm, and some heavy loss of fencing, hay, &c.

Dr. Preston Rhoads, one of our boys who has recently entered the practice of medicine, is located at Newville, and is doing well.

B. F. Gray shipped a large lot of hogs to Louisville last week. A good deal of stock is being handled here at very low prices.

B. F. Yewell, for several years one of our best citizens, will move in a few days as a farm hand, and will soon be making his business profitable.

Ben Tichenor, of Davies county, and our townsman, Oscar Stevens have formed a partnership, and will soon open a livery stable at the stand now occupied by Mr. Sam Taylor.

Mr. Benbow will shortly enter the general hardware and implement business at Fidelity, Ky. He is much known with a fine reputation, and knowing him as we do, we predict for him the success to which his enterprise and sterling worth entitle him.

Our purchasing agent is moving well, there being more than a hundred station in attendance. We stand greatly in need of an addition to our school building, and it is to be hoped that our citizens, who are known to be intelligent, enterprising people, will not long delay the erection of sufficient facilities, which is but simple justice to those who have the greatest claim to be rewarded with a life pension.

Every person is amply able to afford.
